Item 5.02. Departure of Directors or Certain Officers; Election of Directors; Appointment of Certain Officers; Compensatory Arrangements of Certain Officers.

On July 31, 2021, Robert Adams resigned as Chief Technology Officer of the Company, effective as of that date. The resignation of Mr. Adams did not result from any disagreement with the Company. Mr. Adams will continue to serve on the Company’s Board of Directors. Brandon Hart was appointed as the new Chief Technology Officer effective July 31, 2021.

Mr. Hart has spent more than 15 years developing zero trust and data protection solutions. He has more than 12 years filling the role of senior management in tech companies. His career began with Lucent Technologies where he was rapidly promoted through the ranks to become operations assistant to the Director of Operators for Worldwide Broadband Services. He has participated in the development and award of more than ten patents with a focus on data management and crypto key management.

On July 31, 2021, the Board of Directors of the Company appointed Toney Jennings as the Chief Operating Officer of the Company, effective immediately.

Toney is a cybersecurity pioneer that has been leading teams in the cybersecurity and information technology fields for over 30 years. Prior to his involvement in developing of the world’s first Zero Trust Data Platform, he was CEO of Enryptics, Inc which developed rights-managed data encryption and protection solutions. He was also Chairman of SignaCert, Inc., having purchased the IP and assets from Harris Corporation, SignaCert delivered comprehensive and affordable compliance verification and continuous monitoring solutions to both enterprise and government customers. One of his earlier successes was as a founder, CEO, and Chairman of WheelGroup Corporation, the creators of the first commercially available intrusion detection system, delivered through its successful sale to Cisco Systems. Earlier in his career, Toney led teams at Trident Data Systems and as an officer at the Air Force Information Warfare Center (AFIWC), conducting penetration testing and vulnerability assessments of operational Department of Defense (DoD) networks.

Everything Blockchain, Inc., Announces Toney Jennings as Chief Operating Officer

Brandon Hart to Assume Role of Chief Technology Officer

OBITX, Inc., (OTCMKTS: OBTX), an advanced software architect, development and services company specializing in blockchain technologies and decentralized processing, announced today that Toney Jennings has been selected as the company's Chief Operating Officer. In addition, the Company has appointed Brandon Hart as the Chief Technology Officer, replacing Robert Adams, who will remain on the Board of Directors.

Mr. Jennings will assume the responsibilities of Chief Operating Officer immediately. Mr. Jennings will focus on Everything Blockchain's worldwide expansion of services and operations, along with the development and consolidation of the recent acquisitions, combining Blockchain protocols, Zero-Trust Network Access (ZTNA) solutions, and Internet of Things (IoT) products into Everything Blockchain's core product solution. With more than 30 employees/consultants management and oversight in operations has warranted an expansion of the Company's "C" level positions.

Toney is a cybersecurity pioneer that has been leading teams in the cybersecurity and information technology fields for over 30 years. Prior to his involvement in developing of the world's first Zero Trust Data Platform, he was CEO of Encryptics, Inc which developed rights-managed data encryption and protection solutions. He was also Chairman of SignaCert, Inc., having purchased the IP and assets from Harris Corporation, SignaCert delivered comprehensive and affordable compliance verification and continuous monitoring solutions to both enterprise and government customers. One of his earlier successes was as a founder, CEO, and Chairman of WheelGroup Corporation, the creators of the first commercially available intrusion detection system, delivered through its successful sale to Cisco Systems. After the sale to CISCO (CSCO), Toney took his hard driving management style to road racing where he became an owner/driver with numerous wins and podium finishes both as an amateur and later as a professional in the Rolex Grand Am series. Toney's motto "go fast, go hard, or get out of my way" is contagious across his management team.

Earlier in his career, Toney led teams at Trident Data Systems and as an officer at the Air Force Information Warfare Center (AFIWC), conducting penetration testing and vulnerability assessments of operational Department of Defense (DoD) networks.

Brandon Hart will assume the duties as Chief Technology Officer of Everything Blockchain. Robert Adams tendered his resignation as the Company's CTO on July 31, 2021. Mr. Adams will continue as a member of the Board of Directors. Mr. Hart is well groomed as a CTO and has more than 12 years filling the role of senior management in tech companies. His career began with Lucent Technologies where he was rapidly promoted through the ranks to become operations assistant to the Director of Operators for Worldwide Broadband Services. He has participated in the development and award of more than ten patents with a focus on data management and crypto key management. Brandon will spearhead the Company's development team of software engineers and assist Cedric Harris, the Company's Chief Research Officer, in the design and development of our future products and innovative technologies.

Michael Hawkins, Everything Blockchain's Chairman of the Board stated, "We have put together a very powerful and influential senior management team of pioneers and industry trendsetters. I am confident with their leadership Everything Blockchain is destined to become a household common name. Our products and solutions for data security and process analysis will set a new standard in the industry."
